February is National Library Lovers Month

by Luren Dickinson, Director Emeritus

Now is the time to celebrate libraries for more than just books, recognizing their role in providing resources, digital access, community events, and a welcoming space for discovery to all ages.

And you can demonstrate your devotion to libraries on February 14, which has been designated "Library Lovers Day."

What else can you do to show your love of libraries?

- Visit your local library to borrow books or use resources
- Attend library programs or workshops
- Volunteer your time or support the Friends of Beaumont Library
- Share your library love with #NationalLibraryLoversMonth
